

Big Five Personality Test Results

Openness: 40%

If the score falls above 20 but below 40, the person may prefer routine and practicality, showing limited interest in abstract thinking or change.

Conscientiousness: NaN%

A score below 20 reflects a tendency towards disorganization and lack of follow-through. These individuals are often more relaxed about their responsibilities, may procrastinate, and are less likely to focus on long-term goals. They may prefer flexibility over structure.

Extraversion: 80%

Individuals scoring above 60 are still social and energetic, but may occasionally enjoy time alone to recharge. They tend to engage in social activities and are comfortable in group settings but do not always require constant interaction to feel fulfilled.

Agreeableness: NaN%

A score below 20 suggests low agreeableness, with individuals who may be blunt, skeptical, and less concerned with others' emotions or needs. They are more likely to challenge authority, question others' motives, and prioritize their own interests over maintaining harmony in relationships.

Neuroticism: NaN%

A score below 20 reflects a high level of emotional stability. These individuals tend to stay calm and composed under pressure, rarely experiencing intense negative emotions. They are less likely to get anxious, stressed, or upset and are generally able to handle adversity with ease.
