

Big Five Personality Test Results

Openness: 55%

A score around 40 suggests a preference for familiar ideas and methods. You may be pragmatic, valuing tested approaches over novelty. While capable of adapting, you feel most comfortable with clear, concrete systems. You may excel in more structured and familiar environments such as project coordination, operations management, or financial advising, where tested methods are preferred.

Conscientiousness: 62%

A score around 60 reflects a healthy balance between structure and flexibility. You're dependable and efficient but not rigid. You plan ahead, stay focused, and can adapt when necessary. Ideal for roles that need responsibility without excessive rigidity. You may excel in careers like project management, marketing, or healthcare administration, where dependability and flexibility are both important.

Extraversion: 82%

A score above 80 indicates you're highly outgoing, energetic, and socially confident. You thrive in fast-paced, high-energy environments with lots of interaction and stimulation. You draw energy from others and enjoy being in the spotlight. You may excel in high-energy, social careers like sales, public relations, acting, or politics, which require outgoing and assertive interaction.

Agreeableness: 57%

A score around 40 suggests a pragmatic and assertive approach to relationships. You value fairness over niceness and may challenge ideas directly. You're more task-focused than people-pleasing. You may excel in pragmatic, task-focused careers like business consulting, logistics, or software engineering.

Neuroticism: 60%

A score around 40 reflects emotional balance. You're calm under normal stress but may feel pressure in extreme cases. You're stable and realistic, with a healthy level of sensitivity. You may excel in balanced roles requiring calmness and focus, such as engineering, finance, or nursing.